

My favorite holiday ever was the time Mom and Dad took us to see Grandpa at Sun Moon Lake. It all started with some homework. “Everyone needs to share the story of their family. Where did your family come from? What’s your story?” our teacher asked.

POINT

Which students aren't listening to the teacher? What are they doing?

It's a Wild World!

How many animals have you seen in nature in Taiwan? We can see many animals in a zoo, but Taiwan also has many wild animals.

If you are lucky, you might see a wild boar, a leopard cat, or a monkey. You might even see a Formosan black bear, but there are very few left. They are an endangered species, and fewer than 600 remain in the wild. Next time you visit Yushan National Park, look for a bear with a white moon shape on its chest!
